

NAYAK: approval certificate Phenom 100 and authorized service center for Embraer

The company NAYAK at Airport Cologne / Bonn received line and base Part 145 approval for the new business jets from Embraer. NAYAK became the first MRO facility in Germany to serve Embraer's Phenom 100. It's main base in Cologne will provide warranty support as well as line and base maintenance services for Phenom 100.

NAYAK has received EASA certification. The employees have finalized their Level II Training by CAE Training Centre, UK and have completed their practical training at Embraer's production facility Gavião Peixoto, Brazil. Furthermore they received approval for Pratt & Whitney PWC 617 F-E – on 10th July all licenses received.

Jetbird chooses NAYAK for the maintenance of their Phenom 100

In a few weeks, the first European low-cost carrier Jetbird take off for business travelers in Cologne. Jetbird operates the Very Light Jet Embraer Phenom 100 and chooses NAYAK as full support maintenance provider. NAYAK's main base in Cologne will provide warranty support, as well as line and base maintenance services for Phenom 100 customers. Full-service aircraft care includes routine inspection and scheduled and unscheduled maintenance, as well as airframe, engine, avionics and other system repairs, 24/7 assistance, AOG mobile rescue team and an inventory of expendable and repairable parts. At the end of September, flights from Cologne / Bonn start, Munich and Berlin will follow 2010.